External References

return to the Public Area

These are references used within the DDS Foundation that are external to the OMG or the DDS Vendors. These references are important when trying to establish credibility to organizations that are external to OMG and the vendors. One example would be when trying to provide content to Wikipedia.

Web Sites

- Harvard University: MD PnP
- NAV CANADA improves air traffic management with RTI platform

Webcasts

There are a series of webcasts [1] available on the BrightTALK channel [2] :

- Introduction to DDS and Key Abstractions
- Applying DDS QoS to Solve Real World Problems
- Using DDS to Secure Data Communications
- Designing a Distributed Application Using DDS QoS
- What is the Best Connectivity Solution for Your IIoT Systems?

1)
The word ‘webinar’ is a blend of ‘web’ and ‘seminar’. A webinar is an event held on the internet which is attended exclusively by an online audience. This distinguishes it from a webcast, which also includes the presence of a physical audience. Other terms used as alternatives for webinar are web event, online seminar, webcast, web lecture and virtual event. Source: What is a webinar

2)
BrightTALK is a technology media company that provides professional webinar and video solutions to a variety of industries. Headquartered in San Francisco, BrightTALK also has offices in New York. BrightTALK Crunchbase Profile

From:
https://omgwiki.org/ddsf/ - DDS Foundation Wiki

Permanent link:
https://omgwiki.org/ddsf/doku.php?id=ddsf:public:guidebook:06_append:03_bibliography:external_references&rev=1591337010

Last update: 2020/06/05 02:03