

Central Processing Unit (CPU)

Return to Glossary

Central Processing Unit (CPU) is the primary component of a computer that processes instructions. It runs the operating system and applications, constantly receiving input from the user or active software programs. It processes the data and produces output, which may be stored by an application or displayed on the screen.

Source: Central Processing Unit \(CPU\)

From:
<https://omgwiki.org/ddsf/> - DDS Foundation Wiki

Permanent link:
https://omgwiki.org/ddsf/doku.php?id=ddsf:public:guidebook:06_append:glossary:c:cpu&rev=1593459947

Last update: 2020/06/29 15:45

