

Packet Loss

Return to Glossary

Packet Loss is used when describing a packet-switched system and refers to the amount of data (number of packets) that fails to arrive at its intended destination. Network administrators consider this metric when looking at the efficacy and performance of data systems.

Source: Packet Loss

From:
<https://omgwiki.org/ddsf/> - DDS Foundation Wiki

Permanent link:
https://omgwiki.org/ddsf/doku.php?id=ddsf:public:guidebook:06_append:glossary:p:packetloss&rev=1595469972

Last update: 2020/07/22 22:06

