Open Data Commons

Return to the de facto Standards area

Open Data Commons is the home of a set of legal tools and licenses to help you publish, provide and use open data.

Licenses

Return to Top

- Open Data Common Licenses

Tools and Aids

Return to Top

To discover more about open data and content, use these resources:

- What is open data and how does it relate to open knowledge? Consult our guide
- How is "openness" defined in relation to data and content? Read the Open Definition
- Have more detailed questions about the Open Data Commons licenses? Our frequently asked questions may provide answers
- Use the Licenses Service to get data on more than 100 open source, open data and open content licenses in JSON and API friendly form

Note: Open Data Commons is maintained by the Open Knowledge Foundation. If you have any questions, join our discussion forum or email info@okfn.org to contact our team.

- Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)
- Licenses API
- Licenses Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)
- Open Data Handbook
- Open Definition v2.1

Manage an Open Source Program

☐ [nick]Do you plan to populate this? Should I add a note saying that this will be updated in the future? Or delete>

de facto Standards

- None at this time

☐ [char]revise to be consistent in style with other pages in this section. This is a completely new section.

From:
https://omgwiki.org/dido/ - DIDO Wiki

Permanent link:
https://omgwiki.org/dido/doku.php?id=dido:public:ra:xapend:xapend.b_stds:defact:odc:start&rev=1636499527

Last update: 2021/11/09 18:12